[INTERVIEW] Mark Bristow, founder of international beauty brand Bristow London, talks about his rise in the beauty industry and his passion for the sectors he is in charge of. - Where does your love for beauty come from? Every brand I've created has been in the fashion and beauty space. It's an industry that excites me and pushes me to go that little step further. I think it was my mother who gave me the inspiration - she is a very stylish woman and wore makeup in an age when most women didn't. She made it seem like a glamorous thing to do.

[INTERVIEW] Pria Viswalingam, fashion designer, stylist and editor-in-chief of StyleXtra Magazine, talks about what inspires her fashion sense and how she manages to make fashion accessible for all. - How would you say your style has evolved since you started? I don't think my style has changed a lot, I think it's more about accessibility and making fashion simple. I love dressing in a way that is timeless, yet fresh and current. I'm inspired by the glamorous women of the 1920s - inspiration for me is more about timeless elegance than trends. [INTERVIEW] Tina Rabe, CEO of Love In A Time Of White Coats Foundation, talks about what drives her to bring out the best in people and how it all started from a truism.
